“ Jay and Andrea:

My memories and love for your parents goes back 50 years. What a legacy they leave, and what a great legacy for you to share with and pass on to your families. All who knew your father enjoyed his contagious laughter, his love of telling stories, and his love for you. My visits with him over the years were priceless, and despite the passage of time between visits, you felt like it had only been yesterday since you last saw him. Everyone he met felt like they were "part of the family." He will be greatly missed but never forgotten.
